Thank you. I appreciate it and sorry to bother you when you've been away.

I had the opportunity to meet with a former city councilor from Vancouver, Andrea Reimer, who represented their Green Party and was closely involved with their tree master plan back in 2014. She is here at Harvard GSD this year on a Loeb Fellowship and is available to discuss Vancouver's work on trees, if anyone at DPW is interested. I can put you in direct touch with her if you like. Quinton has also met with her.

Here's a link to the Vancouver tree plan. Please share it with the task force. Much of it is quite similar to what they've been discussing.
