CAMBRIDGE ROOM LECTURE SERIES

Old House Do's and Don'ts VIRTUAL

Wednesday, April 6, 12-1 p.m.

As times change so do the needs and desires of families when it comes to modern living. Historic homes are often altered to realize these dreams, but it can be hard to know how to make changes that are sensitive to the existing character of the house. This online lecture defines "preservation" and how to apply its tenets effectively to old homes. Learn tips on how to read changes that have been made to old houses and identify those that were successful and those that weren't. Discover ideas for how to recapture the historic character of an old house as well as improve its energy efficiency. Join us for this lecture presented by Elizabeth Paliga, Preservation Services Manager for Historic New England.

Democratizing Book Collecting: The First Bibliophiles of Cambridge VIRTUAL

Wednesday, April 13, 12-1 p.m.

Join Drew Griffin, Senior Librarian at the Cambridge Public Library, as he delves into the history of book collection in Cambridge. By 1850 two of the finest book collections in the Boston area were located within half a mile of one another on Mass Ave between Central and Harvard Squares. The two bibliophiles, Thomas Dowse and George Livermore, show a distinctly American approach to book collecting. Unlike their British peers, they came from humble backgrounds, didn't attend college, and emphasized the democratic nature of their bookish pursuits by opening their libraries to the public (Dowse) and writing articles on book collecting for the nascent Cambridge Chronicle (Livermore).

Central to It All: A Look at Central Square, the Nightclub ManRay, and Twenty Years of Change IN-PERSON

Wednesday, April 27, 7-8:30 p.m.

Cambridge Room, Main Library

Join Shawn Driscoll, author of We are But Your Children: An Oral History of the Nightclub ManRay, for a look into Central Square during the years of ManRay's existence. Through presentation and a rich panel of speakers, we will explore the years of 1983 to 2006 and witness the growth and dynamic change within the square, through the lens of ManRay and its twenty years at 21 Brookline St.

The Hive

Welcome to the state-of-the-art makerspace located at the Main Library! It is a hub for STEAM learning, creativity, and community collaboration in Cambridge. Its mission is to provide free, hands-on learning opportunities to the Cambridge community, resources for personal projects, and to serve as a hub for skill sharing and creative collaboration.

The Hive is open to individuals with a Minuteman library card. The space is designed for independent use for patrons ages 12 and up and supervised use for children under the age of 12.

Check out our April workshops below. To learn more: camb.ma/cplhive thehive@cambridgema.gov 857-235-9819

Hive Safety Training (Virtual)

In this workshop, you will learn about our makerspace, how to use our resources, and how to keep safe in The Hive.

Equipment and Studio Reservations

Anyone who has completed Hive training and is badged to use equipment or studio(s) can reserve Hive equipment or studio spaces during these times. Staff will assist participants as they are able.

THE 23RD ANNUAL

Cambridge Public Library POETRY CONTEST

The Cambridge Public Library presents our 23rd Annual Youth Poetry Contest for K-8 students who live or attend school in Cambridge.

Submit your original poems by Saturday, April 30.

Poems will be judged for interesting content and creativity as well as consistent and imaginative style. There will be an extra prize for winning poems about trees. Winners will be notified in early May, and prizes will be awarded at a ceremony and reading on Thursday, May 26 at 6 p.m.. Poems in languages other than English are welcome but must include English translations (which do not need to be poetic). Winning poems may be published online.

Include your name, grade, school, phone number, and email address with each entry. If you are a teacher submitting entries from your class, also include your name and email address on each entry—we will contact you if your class has a winner.
